Site plan review ordinance prepared for public hearings

Bethel's draft site plan review ordinance received high marks from the Planning Board and Board of Selectmen Monday night and was declared ready for presentation to the public. The draft will be presented at two public hearings: Wednesday, July 15 at the Tatar lecture hall and Wednesday, July 22 at the West Bethel Union Church.

The Planning Board, with help from the Maine Municipal Association and from a professional planner hired by the town as a consultant, had been working since March on the draft ordinance submitted by the ordinance review subcommittee. Last week they completed their re-working of the draft and presented it to the selectmen. The latter group will discuss the draft one final time—next Monday night, July 6—before the public hearings, and will also solicit comments on it from the town council.

The draft, as re-worked by the Planning Board, does not differ substantially from the draft originally proposed by the subcommittee. While numerous changes were made, most of them were rearranging of sections of the original, such as taking regulatory sections out of the section on definitions and integrating them with the section on regulations.

The most substantive change made by the Planning Board was in increasing the number of dwelling units per acre permitted in areas not served by town sewer. The subcommittee had recommended a maximum of two units per acre for any multi-unit development in areas not served by town sewer. The Planning Board doubled that to a maximum of four units per acre. This followed the recommendation of the planning consultant, who pointed out that spreading development thinly over many acres would damage the local woods industry by eating up a lot of forest. (The maximum number of units permitted on multi-unit developments in the area served by town sewer remains seven.)

Selectman Pat Doon questioned the requirement for leaving 40 percent of the land area of a multi-family development as green space, arguing that such a requirement would also cause a lot of land to be used up.

Selectman Arthur Gilbert questioned the 40-foot setback requirements from side and rear boundaries in those areas of town not served by town sewer. This

Savings Bank offering stock as it goes public

If the conversion of ownership of the Bethel Savings Bank succeeds as planned, investors throughout the country will soon be able to buy—and sell—stock in BTHS (the stock symbol given the new venture by the Securities and Exchange Commission). The stock would be traded over-the-counter.

The Bethel Savings Bank last week began offering for sale up to 229,000 shares of the stock as it began the process of converting from a mutual savings bank owned by the depositors to a publicly held corporation.

There are two major requisites for accomplishing the conversion: a majority of the present owners—that is, the depositors—must approve of the conversion; and the fledgling corporation must sell a minimum of 200,000 shares. (As noted above, the maximum number of shares authorized by federal authorities is 229,000.) The shares are being offered at $10 per share, with a minimum of 25 shares.

More than 50 people showed up last Friday night at a public meeting held by the bank at the Mundy-Allen American Legion hall in Bethel. Bank officials explained the conversion process and why they thought conversion would accelerate the growth of the bank.

MARGUERITE GRAHAM AND BRENDON BASS go over a map of Central America prior to leaving, last Saturday, for a two-week tour of Honduras and Nicaragua. They are part of a group, under the sponsorship of the Witness for Peace program, that will be talking with officials and ordinary citizens in order to understand what effect the U.S.-backed Central War is having on the peoples of the two countries most affected by the war.

Special town meeting tonight (Wednesday)

There will be a special Bethel town meeting at 7 o'clock tonight (Wednesday) at the Tatar lecture hall to see if the voters desire to raise and appropriate funds for the purchase of a gravel pit for the town.

The land under consideration is a five-acre tract owned by Shirley Gilbert, along the Androscoggin River, in West Bethel. Price and terms are: total price of $40,000, with $5,000 down and the remainder payable over seven years at an annual interest rate of 9 1/2 percent. The acreage has about 400 feet of waterfront. Town Manager Rodney Lynch has stated that the town is in urgent need of a gravel pit as prices are rising rapidly and local availability is shrinking.

At a meeting last Tuesday evening the budget committee declined to recommend the land purchase.

For these two Bethel citizens patriotism is more than words

Brendon Bass and Marguerite Graham left last Saturday for the war zone of Central America. They will spend America's Independence Day—July 4th—with the peasants in Nicaragua, learning about their lives and about their feelings towards the U.S.-supported Contras, who attack them. They will return to Bethel July 14.

Brendon Bass is a father, a husband, and one of the two ministers at the West Parish Congregational Church, in Bethel. Marguerite Graham is a mother, a wife, and a volunteer in the Bethel school. They chose to go to Central America because they are opposed to what their country is doing there and they wanted to be able to document the effects of U.S. involvement in Nicaragua and Honduras.

Jean Bass, Brendon's wife and co-minister at the Congregational Church, says, "It all sounds so anti-American, but it's really trying to support American values."

Mrs. Graham says she is trying to support the American democratic value of freedom of choice. "What I'm supporting is the right of people to choose," she said.

And, unfortunately, the government, these people have chosen is not being given a chance [by the U.S. administration]."

Brendon Bass says one value he firmly believes in is the traditional American support for sovereignty. "There's that mentality that views Central America as different from Europe or even South America. We don't allow them complete sovereignty," he said. "It has a lot to do with United Fruit and economic ties. There's always been intervention—even before the communist revolution."

Three appointed to Planning Board

The Bethel Board of Selectmen Monday night appointed three new members to the Planning Board.

Reggie Brown and Donna Remington were appointed to three-year terms. They replace retiring members John Gray and Dennis Shaw. Deb Dohrmann was appointed to a one-year term to fill the remainder of the term held by Cathy Novell, who resigned because of the increased demands on her time.

In other matters, the selectmen ordered the town manager to submit a proposal for ambulance service in Albany to the county commissioners. Last year, the county commissioners selected Stoneham Rescue as the ambulance service provider following a high bid from Bethel.

Recently, Stoneham Rescue told the commissioners they were no longer interested in covering the Bethel side of Albany.

The selectmen told the town manager to offer basically the same bid as last year.

The selectmen approved licenses for the following innkeepers: Bethel Inn, Noreman Inn, L'Auberge, and Sudbury Inn. They cautioned the owners of the last-named inn that they must improve the parking situation.

The selectmen also approved licenses for lodging houses and victualers in town, including the newly opened Maine-ger, on the Flat Road, owned by Don and Constance Vautour, and the re-named T.J. Pester's—formerly Shore's.

Opinions

No summer soldiers these two

"The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country," wrote Tom Paine, attempting to fan the flames of patriotism in the youthful bosom of the American colonies, which had just declared their independence from England.

We continue to celebrate that Declaration of Independence as the birthday of our country, although there was really not a country to speak of until the Constitution had been formulated and approved, in 1787—200 years ago this summer.

What Tom Paine was pushing in the days of the Revolutionary War was a love for freedom on the part of the individual—the individual farmer, the individual merchant. (Freedom was not then a concept to be extended to slaves, nor were democratic rights extended to women or to those who didn't own property.)

That is what passed for patriotism in the youthful colonies. Now, as a middle-aged nation—a superpower at that—patriotism involves a different sort of vision. The goal for America now is more than freedom; it is to seek justice—for our citizens and for those whose lives we have impact upon.

That is why it seems altogether fitting that two local residents are spending July 4th in Nicaragua, getting the story of the people there in order to tell it back here—in order to stop the injustice of having a U.S. proxy army invading a sovereign country with which we are not at war.

There are much greater ills in the world that need tending to than trying to overthrow by force of arms a government we don't like. Simple justice demands that we not interfere in the internal affairs of other nations.

It is good that during this week in which we particularly relish being Americans, Marguerite Graham and Brendon Bass are demonstrating their patriotism in an important way. bfw

As I see it...

The Bicentennial of the Constitution

Two hundred years ago, delegates from the 13 original colonies, who were meeting in Philadelphia to resolve the problems facing their new nation, took a break to celebrate Independence Day, as we all do each July 4th.

They had only recently agreed that the House of Representatives must reflect population and concluded that a second chamber was needed as well. The details of election and numbers in the new chamber, the Senate, were left to be debated after the July 4th break.

The lengthy debates and arguments that attended the writing of the Constitution are very reminiscent of the equally lengthy debates and arguments we Americans still have today over its meaning.

Today, some say the only rights guaranteed by the Constitution are those explicitly stated in so many words. Some say our rights are broader and have to be inferred from the written text. Some say the document gives unlimited power to the President in certain areas, such as foreign affairs. Others point to the role of the Congress in declaring war, and ratifying treaties to dispute that argument.

Those debates have occurred as long as our nation has endured. Our differences in debate arise from the challenges and difficulties each decade presents, but our arguments are channeled along the lines of authority, the balance of powers and the specific prohibitions set forth in our Constitution.

Americans will never stop debating what the Constitution means because it is the document by which we guide our national destiny. The Constitution does not answer all questions or solves all problems.

Its prose is not as inspirational as the familiar words of the Declaration of Independence. Its modest preamble speaks in a hopeful spirit of the desire to "form a more perfect union."

The central text, setting out the mechanics of choosing our government and listing the duties of each branch, is a far cry from the ringing universal truths, damning indictments and righteous justifications in the Declaration.

But nonetheless, the Constitution is our fundamental law, recognized and accepted by all Americans, even though it reflects, in one sense, the interests of a relatively narrow segment of wealthy, property-owning men in a small, agrarian society 200 years ago.

Yet today we accept the judgments of 200 years ago and apply them to the needs of a nation of 240 million people, with a vast commercial system that stretches around the globe, and military might and responsibilities the Founders could never have foreseen.

We appeal to the authority of a 200-year-old document in a way no other people or nation has ever done. Its authority decides our differences, its prohibitions guide our political debates, its liberties help shape our society and its principles.

We rely on our constitution, not pri-

Otten named to NSAA board of directors

The National Ski Areas Association (NSAA), the trade association for the nation's ski areas, recently announced the election of Les Otten, president of Sunday River Ski Resort, to the NSAA board of directors.

Mr. Otten has served as president of Sunday River since 1980, when he purchased controlling interest in the ski area from the Sherburne Corporation (now SKI Limited), parent company of Killington, Vt. Ski Resort. He began his ski industry career at Killington in 1971 and obtained the position of assistant to the manager at Sunday River the next year. At the age of 25, he came general manager of Sunday River in 1974.

The new NSAA board member received a bachelor of science in business administration from Ithaca College, New York. He is married with three skiing children.

Also elected to the NSAA board to serve three-year terms were Jerry Blann of the Aspen Skiing Company, Colorado, and Tom Leonard from Crystal Mountain, Washington.

As a member of the board, Mr. Otten will play a leading role in fulfilling the purposes of this national association, to create a better skiing environment for alpine skiers and would-be skiers and better business environment for those who own and operate the nation's ski areas.

marily because it has demonstrated its enduring wisdom over two centuries, but because it is the most important element in the making of a nation. The Revolutionary War was fought by the ancestors of relatively few of today's Americans. Most of us trace our roots to more recent immigrants.

Our families' traditions vary, our histories are diverse, our faiths are many; but what we share is more important than what divides us. And what we share, above all, are the Constitutional guarantees of political liberties, civil rights, and individual freedoms.

As we celebrate July 4, 1987, we should spare a thought for the men of July 4, 1787, whose ideals, goals, arguments and compromises gave us the document that makes us all Americans.

New home purchase program announced by state housing authority

The Maine State Housing Authority's new home purchase program, which began Monday at participating lenders throughout the state, provides approximately $15 million worth of loans at an interest rate of 8.25 percent, about two points below most conventional rates.

The new program features higher home price limits and high income limits than previous programs, according to MSHA Director Elizabeth Mitchell. The loans can be used by persons who have not owned a home for the past three years and whose adjusted gross annual income is $30,000 or less (if buying an existing home), or $32,000 or less if buying a new home.

The home price limits, which are established by the federal government and based on the average cost of housing in the state, are $84,000 for existing homes and $87,000 for new homes. The increase is the first adjustment the federal government has made in home price costs in two years.

The higher home price limits are more reflective of the cost of housing in Maine today, and will be particularly useful in some areas of the state where home prices have escalated rapidly over the past two years, Mrs. Mitchell said. "The problem of affordability continues to plague our homeownership market as prices continue to increase faster than incomes."

"Even though these new limits are still below the median price home in some areas, they will help our program serve more Maine people."

The MSHA adjusted the income limit for eligible buyers, raising it from $28,000 to $30,000, the reflect the higher home prices the federal regulations permit.

The MSHA loans were available starting Monday through the 18 participating lenders. The loans will be made on a first-come, first-served basis, except that half of the funds are reserved for the first 30 days for first-time buyers with incomes of $23,500 or less. Contact your bank for further information.

"We expect this new program will make the dream of homeownership come true for more than 300 working Maine

THE MUNDT-ALLEN POST of the American Legion recently purchased two HERO (Home Emergency Response Operator) units for use by elderly people in the Bethel area. Last Thursday, Post Commander Gene Buswell (left) and Lindley Wieden (adjutant and elder advocate for Western Area Agency on Aging) turned over the units to Dan Marois (community relations director at Stephens Memorial Hospital). The HERO units are placed in homes of elderly people and enable them to summon help in the event that they fall or become ill and are unable to reach their telephones. The remote control unit is kept with them at all times. Once activated, the unit automatically contacts a telephone center, in Malden, Mass. Center personnel first pull a file containing medical information on the person. They then call the home to see if anyone answers. If there is no answer they call the first number programmed into the machine, usually a relative or close neighbor, to alert them of a possible emergency. If nobody answers there, then a second number, usually the local ambulance/rescue unit, is called. There are currently 25 HERO units in the area served by Stephens Memorial Hospital. The two units donated by the Mundt-Allen Post are going into the homes of two elderly people in the Bethel area. (Photo by Jeanne Boelsma) families," Mrs. Mitchell said. "The interest rate of 8.25 percent represents a considerable savings over conventional loans, and will enable families who could not afford a conventional loan to buy a home."

The program, which started Monday is the second home-purchase program of 1987 for the MSHA. Earlier, the agency provided $27 million in loans at a 7.75 percent interest rate.

Mrs. Mitchell noted that since 1982, the MSHA has provided Maine working families with approximately $500 million in low interest rate home loans. This has enabled more than 9,000 modest income families to buy their first homes.

The MSHA financing is provided through the sale of tax-exempt revenue bonds. The interest rate advantage the tax-exemption provides is supplemented by use of the MSHA's funds from the Housing Opportunities for Maine (HOME) program.

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 would eliminate the use of tax-exempt bonds for single family housing in December 1988, which would end the MSHA's popular home purchase plan. The MSHA, along with other state housing finance agencies and the National Council of State Housing Agencies, is supporting legislation that would extend the "sunset" until 1992. That legislation has been introduced in the House.

Site plan review

requirement is double the requirement for in-town developments. Planning Board Chairman John Gray told him this was a method that would, hopefully, inhibit strip development, which is common in suburban areas.

The purposes of the site plan ordinance are, according to the draft, "to protect property rights and values by balancing the rights of landowners to use their land with the corresponding rights of abutting and neighboring landowners to enjoy their property; to promote the development of an economically sound and stable community; to integrate new development harmoniously into the existing environment; to minimize adverse and irreversible impacts on ground water and the atmosphere."

The ordinance will be applicable to new construction, change of use, enlargement or alteration of the following: commercial, retail, industrial, institutional and recreational buildings, structures and uses; multi-family dwellings consisting of three or more attached dwelling units and their accessory uses and structures; campgrounds, mobile home parks, condominium development, motels, hotels and inns, bed and breakfast establishments and tourist homes.

The ordinance would not apply to construction of detached single-family and two-family dwellings, agricultural buildings, and subdivisions (as defined by state statute and the subdivision regulations of the town).

Planning Board members said it will make their jobs more difficult to have to deal with some multi-family projects under the subdivision regulations while dealing with others under the site plan review ordinance, but the only alternative would have been to re-write the draft completely in order to encompass both types of developments.

The planners said even with the site plan review ordinance in place, a project such as Eden Ridge or Mill Brook Estates would have to be handled under the subdivision regulations, because the property is actually being subdivided among the buyers. On the other hand, projects such as The Bethel Inn townhouse condominiums would fall under the site plan review ordinance, because only the housing itself is being sold. (Planning Board members said the Carriage House project would not meet the requirements of the site plan review ordinance because there is not the required amount of greenspace nor the required amount of parking.)

Town officials predicted that parking requirements would be one of the hot topics when the plan comes up for public hearing and for a vote. (A special town meeting is expected to be scheduled for Aug. 26 to vote on the draft.)

In a multi-family development, there must be two parking spaces for the first bedroom of each dwelling unit, plus one parking space for each additional bedroom. For motel, hotels and inns, there must be one parking space for each bedroom plus one for each employee. For bed and breakfast establishments and tourist homes, there must be one parking space for each guest room, two parking spaces for the residents and one parking space for each employee.

For retail stores, there must be one parking space for every 200 square feet of retail or display space; for restaurants there must be one parking space for each three seats; for professional and business offices, there must be one parking space for every 200 square feet of office space; for public offices or buildings there must be a minimum of five parking spaces; for banks there must be a minimum of 10 parking spaces for customers plus one for each employee.

Signs are also expected to generate some heat at the discussions and vote. Flashing, neon and revolving signs are all forbidden, as are trailer or portable signs. In addition, there are restrictions on the sizes and placement of signs.

Planning Board Chairman Gray admitted the ordinance would take some getting used to if it is approved by the voters. "It's going from zero requirements to 30 pages of the draft," he said, indicating the 30 pages of the draft. "This covers a lot of territory that's never been covered before in the town."

He said the success or failure of the ordinance, if it is approved, would be in the administration of it. The administration of the ordinance is assigned to the Planning Board.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch concurred that administration of the ordinance would be tricky. "I see administration as the main problem," he said. "I don't see how the Planning Board is going to squeeze it all in." He suggested the board would at least need a full-time secretary.

Since not everyone will always agree with the Planning Board's decision on permit applications under the ordinance, there is an appeal process. The applicant, abutting land owner, or other aggrieved party may appeal the board's decision to the Board of Appeals within 30 days of the Planning Board's decision. The Board of Appeals, after holding a public hearing, may reverse the Planning Board's decision, or may grant a variance in cases of public interest, undue hardship and unique circumstances.

Arlan Jodrey, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, said of the draft ordinance, "It's what we were looking for. It shouldn't offend anyone and it should be accepted."

Rev. Bass and Mrs. Graham are part of a 21-member delegation that departed Portland Saturday under the sponsorship of the Witness for Peace program. The members of the delegation come from all over the U.S., but mostly from Maine and Massachusetts. They are young and old, men and women, teachers and clergy, workers and retirees. The Witness for Peace program has already sent thousands of ordinary Americans to Central America in order to be witnesses for peace.

The delegation that Rev. Bass and Mrs. Graham are on will spend four days in Honduras, with visits to a refugee camp, the U.S. Embassy, a U.S. air base, plus meetings with American, Honduran and church, labor and opposition officials.

They will then go to Nicaragua, for meetings with government and opposition officials, as well as a meeting with members of the Miskito Indian tribe. Then they will spend six days in the countryside, visiting peasant villages and getting a feel for peasant life.

Aside from being somewhat anxious about traveling in the Nicaraguan countryside, where an American was killed by Contras a couple of months ago, the Bethel visitors are also afraid of what they're likely to see.

"I expect to see them putting things together with baling wire," said Rev. Bass. "I'm going to wonder how they can survive, even without the war—and they're facing a large, well-trained, well-financed army."

As for Mrs. Graham, "To see a mother who's lost a child—that would be really hard on me."

The two travelers have no illusions about what they can do as ordinary American citizens, without government affiliation, without funding (legal or illegal). But they also feel that they must do something, no matter how small. "The only way to break down the barriers is more cultural exchange," Mrs. Graham says.

"We're going as fellow Christians, to say we're with you," says Rev. Bass. And his wife adds, "People in the villages feel you're bringing something to them just by being there."

"It'd be really nice to just live your life and not pay attention," Mrs. Graham said. But, she added, she can't do that. And Rev. Bass said he couldn't either. "I have never been comfortable with conflict... Making this trip... feels like something I can do that might make a difference."

Both Bethel "witnesses" think that if their trip to central America causes their friends to be more concerned about their safety—and thus, about the situation in Central America—then they will already have accomplished something.

In a letter to friends, Rev. Bass wrote: "The place for Christians in a violent conflict... is not on one side or the other, but between the combatants, saying to each of them: 'This man is my brother; to kill him you must first kill me, with whom you have no quarrel.'"

"The journey... will be an attempt to stand, not exactly between combatants, as if I or the Nicaraguans were neutral, but with fellow-Christians who are suffering from an unfair and unnecessary war. And I am not neutral. I personally believe... that the Nicaraguans are trying to work out a government more responsive to the needs of their majority than their previous governments have been. I also believe that, if they are allowed [by the U.S.] to succeed, they may have something as positive to show the world as we had two hundred years ago after our revolution."

Mrs. Graham also wrote to her friends. She said: "U.S.-backed Contras terrorize the civilian population... Is it right for the U.S. government to go into Central American countries, forcing them to run their governments in a manner that we feel is 'good for them' or rather 'good for us'? We had a revolution of sorts when we broke away from England. We didn't want to be ruled by another nation. We wanted our independence just as the peoples of Central America do."

Both Bethel "witnesses" say they are aware that the Sandinista government in Nicaragua is not perfect. But, they point out, it is the government supported by the Nicaraguan people. They note that the government has distributed arms to the peasants so that they can defend themselves against the Contras. Unless the Sandinistas felt secure, they would not be giving guns to the populace.

And they are very clear about their bottom line argument with the administration in Washington. "It is the promotion of this war that I oppose," says Mrs. Graham.

"There's always going to be sore spots [in the world], but to think we're causing them is what bothers me," says Rev. Bass.

Mrs. Graham told her friends before she and Rev. Bass left, "Whether you agree with me or not, you will undoubtedly think more about the situation in Nicaragua in the weeks to come because you are close to someone that is going down there... My hope is that you will express your views to Congress... after all, it is your tax dollars that are going to support a war which is killing thousands of innocent civilians."

Savings Bank offering

"In order to continue growth, we need to raise more capital," said bank president Jim Delamater. "A stock offering will raise this capital... It will result in a stronger bank."

Mr. Delamater, while not wanting to appear to be touting the stock, pointed out that the bank has enjoyed rapid growth, thanks to a dedicated and able staff—numbering 34—and the general growth of the area. The bank, which is over 100 years old, began, in recent decades, to branch out. It now has branches in Harrison, Rumford, and South Paris. Assets increased from $34 million in 1985 to $46 million this year. The market value of the bank was recently appraised, according to the prospectus for the stock issue, at between $1,910,000 and $2,290,000. (This determined the value of the stock allowed to be issued.)

The stock is first being offered to those depositors who had accounts with more than $50 in the bank as of Sept. 30, 1986. If that group of people do not purchase all the 529,000 shares being offered, shares will then be offered to more recent depositors, borrowers, and bank employees and trustees. If there are still shares remaining after that group of people buy all they want, stock would then be offered to the general population of Maine and the adjacent counties in New Hampshire.

During the conversion process, and until July 22—when the initial stock offer will terminate—all three groups of would-be stock purchasers may order stock. However, it will not be known exactly how much stock each person was able to purchase until it is seen how strong the demand for stock was in each group, bank officials said. They said it would be a few weeks after the close of the offering before stock certificates were issued and the stock began trading on the over-the-counter market.

Judging from the response at last Friday's meeting, demand seems quite high. There were no negative comments voiced about the conversion and most people simply wanted to know the details about purchasing stock. The trustees of the bank have indicated their intention of purchasing large amounts of stock, with some trustees intending to purchase the maximum 2½ percent of the offering, worth $115,000. The bank has opened a "conversion center" in the side office of the Cole Block. Bank officials are also taking orders by phone and by mail. The bank mailed out tens of thousands of pieces of literature last week to depositors and borrowers explaining the conversion while offering to send a prospectus on the stock offering to those desiring it. The stock is offered only through the prospectus.

The cost of the conversion, including printing and mailing of last week's bulk mailings, plus legal, accounting and appraisal costs, is estimated at nearly $200,000. Should depositors not approve the conversion of the bank to a publicly held corporation, the bank ownership would continue as it is, officials said, and any money taken in in payment for stock would be returned.

If the conversion is approved, the corporate parent of the bank will be Bethel Bancorp, a newly formed corporation, which is the entity issuing the shares being offered. Mr. Delamater explained that having a holding company own the bank will give the owners of the bank—that is, the shareholders—more flexibility than if ownership were direct. In other words, the holding company could invest in areas that the bank—because of banking regulations—would not be allowed to.

Bank officials held another public meeting in Harrison last night and will be holding meetings in South Paris and Rumford. They emphasized that the change in ownership of the bank would have nothing to do with the operation of the bank. The officers would remain the same, as would the lending rates, interest rates and services offered. The only change would be in the ownership.

As Mr. Delamater said, the officials would work to have the bank grow in order to profit the shareholders. Responding to a question as to whether taking the bank public might result in the sale of the bank to outside interests, Mr. Delamater said, "We have no plans to sell the bank, but if someone were to come along with an offer through the roof, we represent the stockholders and would have to sit down with him. We have to do what's best for the stockholders."

Carol Fiske, theater director at Gould Academy, recently attended Lesley College Graduate School's Institute for the Arts and Human Development's "A Creative Arts in Learning Symposium on Multicultural Arts Education" July 22-June 26, at Lesley College's Alumni Hall.

Opponents of powerline proposal can write DOE

The Department of Energy this week released additional details on Central Maine Power's proposal to build a high-voltage power line from the Canadian border to Pownal, through western Maine.

The DOE's Economic Regulatory Administration would have to issue a permit to build the power line, which would import up to 1,000 megawatts of electricity from Canada. That agency is soliciting comments on the application.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest the application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Economic Regulatory Administration, Room GA-033, Forrestal Building, 1000 Independence Ave., S.W., Washington, D.C. 20585. Such petitions or protests should be filed by July 24. Copies of the application can be obtained from the DOE's Freedom of Information Room, Room 1E-190—same building and address as above.

60th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. William P. O'Connor of West Paris celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary June 20 at the Scottish Lion Inn, North Conway, N.H., where their son is the innkeeper.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor were married June 12, 1927, at St. James Church, Arlington, Mass., where they made their home before moving to West Paris in 1975. Mrs. O'Connor is the former Florence Ellingwood.

The reception was given by their three sons and their wives: Mr. and Mrs. William P. O'Connor of Belleville, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. David J. O'Connor of Diamond Bar, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. O'Connor of Brockton, Mass.

The event was attended by relatives, aunts, uncles, nieces, seven of their nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

A toast was proposed by Edward M. O'Connor of Medford, Mass., who was the couple's best man. Allison D. O'Connor, a granddaughter from California had charge of the guest book. Kevin Dolan, an Irish ballad singer, entertained the guests.

Mr. O'Connor was employed by B.F. Goodrich Co. for 49 years before retiring in 1966. He is a member of the Arlington Council 109 Knights of Columbus, and was their financial secretary for over 40 years.

Mrs. O'Connor was employed by Jordan Marsh Co., Boston, Mass., before her marriage. The O'Connors are members of St. Catherine Church, Norway; the West Paris and South Paris historical societies; and the West Paris Senior Citizens.

Their son David and wife Deborah, two daughters Allison D. and Sarah E. from California, spent a week at the O'Connors in West Paris. Son William and wife Mary visited for a few days before going home to Michigan.

Not too long ago two young ladies, both faithful readers of The Citizen, came to call on us one afternoon, and were very disappointed not to see their names in print, the next week. So, be it known to one and all that Mrs. Keith Bartlett Jr. (Laurie) of Marlboro, Mass., and Miss Karen Groppers of Providence, R.I., were recent visitors along with Laurie's mother-in-law, Suzanne Bartlett of Bethel.

Cleveland and Cathryn Lovejoy celebrated their 40th anniversary on Sunday, June 21, at family gathering on North Pond at the cottage of Rick and Ellen Whitney.

Rick Lewis and Michael Kootz have returned after two weeks training with the 240th Engineering Group of the National Guard near Skowhegan.

Colleen Boyd was in Brewer this past weekend visiting her son and family, the Craig Boyds. They all went to Orono one day to see the baby caribou.

Andrew and Marlene Stowell and children of Jackman arrived last Saturday to spend the week through July 4th with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Everett, Jeffrey and James, Jenison, Mich., have returned home after spending 10 days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Everett Jr. and Mrs. Ann Mason.

Lisa Standeven of West Bethel and Peter A. Gordon of Albany are proud to announce the birth of a son, Matthew Allen Standeven, at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway on June 25, 1987. Matthew weighed 7 lbs. 9 ozs. and measured 21 1/2".

The rays of the rising sun is coming up from the other side of the world. It streams through the windows creeping across the porch and kitchen floor. It shines over the pond lighting up the weeds and grasses.

On such a beautiful day I had an urge to go to the hedges, a short distance after leaving the spring road. This is the easiest route.

Several partridges jumped from a glade of hemlocks. An occasional chickadee flitted near to inspect me.

I soon came to the higher terrain and descended from the road toward the hedges. It had been just a pleasant walk through the woods. I found that I could see for miles in all directions.

From tiny fissures grew tufts of silvery-gray moss. A surface rough enough to catch one can be a starting-point of growth. After water seeps into one, then frost breaks them. So in time the granite is covered with lichens, as it was here.

Later humus forms beneath them, thus deeper cracks come. Seeds of weeds, shrubs, and even trees start.

There has always been a sense of satisfaction to me in woodland wandering.

There has always been a sense of satisfaction to me in woodland wandering.

I have followed naby established trails where I am conscious of someone preceding me. Then I am only following along after others, who show the way. It's more rewarding to me to strike out on my own in places familiar; especially when I had rather wander than do anything else.

I had been here in all seasons; autumn's picture was magic with vivid splashes of red and yellow against a hillside of somber green, then with the ecstasy over, the rigidity of branches.

In winter my snowshoes had taken me there. I heard the swish-swish of those. As the sun hit the snow, it changed from purple shadows to sparkling silver.

Spring brought wild columbines. Now summer with its lichens. So all seasons have their glory. I like them all.

This has been a busy week for on Monday I scraped, brushed, shellacked and

Sidewalk art festival in Norway, July 11

Over $5,000 in prize money will be given away during the annual Norway Sidewalk Art Festival coming to Main Street in Norway in Saturday, July 11. Over 55 artists have registered, with more expected the day of the show. They come from from everywhere, offering all types of scenery, from mountain to coastal, plus many other choices.

A recent article in Downeast Magazine noted that collecting original art has become good business, as well as an interesting pastime. Each year, interested collectors and supporters participate as "purchase award donors." Each artist will offer four paintings for this category, and for only $250 (all of which goes to the artists), participants may select the painting of their choice, most of which are worth much more. Almost 20 art appreciators have signed up, and more may join up 9 a.m. the day of the show.

In addition to the purchase awards, first prize money is $300, and second prize is $250. There will be a student division. Applications are available by calling 743-9281, or stopping by 114 Main Street in Norway. The Art Festival is co-sponsored by the Western Maine Art Group and radio station WOXO.

On Tuesday I did the other half. On Wednesday I joined seven teachers for lunch and an afternoon at the home of Doris Slattery, West Paris. Thursday, I mowed my lawn. Friday was grocery shopping day. Saturday was the 45th wedding anniversary of Leonas and Fay Holt. I visited them and David, Sally, Mary and Ann Holt. Then in the evening we all went out for dinner.

Eva Felton fell and broke her wrist this weekend.

Dorothy Curtis has had several local callers this week, and Mildred Bowman of Hebron.

I had a surprise visit from two former pupils whom I had not seen in many years: Florence Loughman and Bertha Cole.

The schools are closed so the children are happy to be free from their studies for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reldy of Tyngsboro, Mass., came to their trailer for the weekend and Father's Day. They will come July 3 for their annual two weeks vacation.

Strawberries and more strawberries have been the order of the day at the Craig Goodwin farm on Stearns Hill. Joe Vatcher went to the farm June 20 to pick berries for the Community Club's strawberry shortcake supper on July 25 and when he told Joe they were free. The Community Club appreciates his generosity and has extended an invitation to him and his wife to be our guests at the supper. Such beautiful red sweet berries.

Several from our hamlet attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Rupert and Gladys Ellingwood at the West Paris Grange Hall on June 20. They had a nice party.

Joseph Vatcher received word Thursday evening, June 25, of his mother's death at Liberty Free Pavilion, Danvers, Mass., where she had been a patient since March 1980. He went to Massachusetts Friday to make funeral arrangements. Bobbie Isley went with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vatcher and three children, Lynn, Mass., called on Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher, Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Isley and Rob Jr., Rome, N.Y., spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Isley.

Frank Perham has returned from Stephens Memorial Hospital where he was a surgical patient and he will go up to his camp at Greenwood.

CARD OF THANKS

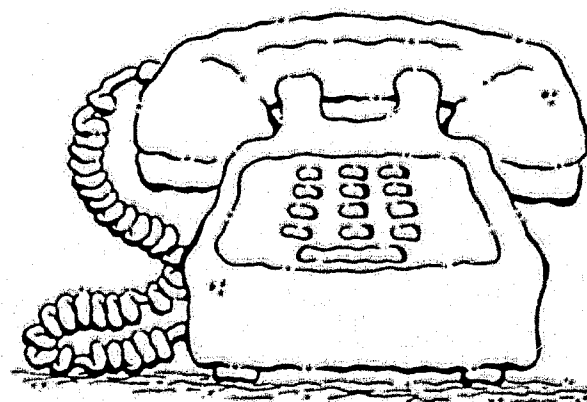

I wish to thank all who sent cards and visited me while I was in the hospital and since I returned home. The town office personnel and officials for the flowers, the west Bethel Union Church for the fruit basket, their prayers and concerns, also those who helped in my gardens. Thank you all.

It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering items for our annual auction. The proceeds of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp tuitions, area athletes expenses, disabled individuals needs, etc. If you're cleaning the garage, attic, or cellar, let us get rid of those unwanted items for you. Call Roger Conant, 824-2131 or 824-2269, for pickup. He's up with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!

Give your kids something they'll be talking about for years.

If you have a teenager who likes to talk on the phone, (in other words, if you have a teenager) then we have the perfect gift. It's called TeenLine from Contel.* With the TeenLine package, your child gets a separate touchtone phone line, a listing in the directory and three-way calling.

As for the price, it's less than you might expect. Just a low monthly fee that's added to your phone bill. You also get a special toll call restriction that eliminates the abuse of long distance calls.

If you act quickly, Contel will send you a Small Talk® Touchtone phone absolutely free.

So why not call your Contel business office and ask about the TeenLine package. It's practical. It's inexpensive. And it's a real conversation piece.

High Street West Paris

By VIVA WHITMAN
What lovely weather we have been having. It has been nice to have the sun and not have the air too humid. This morning is cloudy and muggy but got to expect to get some of it and the garden really enjoyed the rain the other night. That rain really made things grow over night. Russell has some gladioluses and they haven't been coming up very good but the rain helped so the next day, 10 more of them had broken the ground and yesterday there were even more. It just shows what a good drink of water can do for the plants. Carrots, beets and everything has come ahead nicely.

Peggy had a guest arrive a week ago to stay for a few days. Eva Swanson from up in New Hampshire came to visit. She had worked with Peggy at the Hillsboro Club and they had become good friends so she came to visit. We all enjoyed her stay and hope she comes again. Even Kariann liked her so she would talk to her and play with her a little. This is quite something as Kariann does not take to other folks too well. She is rather shy and won't let others take care of her. She and her Nana get along very nicely but not too many have good luck with her.

On Friday, Peggy drove Russell and I to town for business purposes. Had to get groceries and I had an appointment to keep and as Russell is having so much trouble with his eyes Peggy drove us down. I can sometimes drive that far but not much farther. Russell also needed to go for blood tests as usual so got it all done. Eva rode along for company.

Saturday was Grange meeting at South Paris so Peggy made plans in the morning so Russell and I could take one with us for the Grange lunch. Peggy did not go as Eva isn't a Grange Member and we didn't want to have her sit home alone. Had a nice lunch and a nice meeting with a lovely program. This was the last of the three point meetings for West Paris, Franklin Grange and Paris Grange. I'm glad we made it a good one. The program included happenings in June so was very appropriate.

Peggy and Eva got all dressed up and went to a dance in Greene. They followed Charlotte Cole and passengers to get there. They said they had a wonderful time even though it was late or early in the morning when they got home. Wynona had brought Kariann up to stay with us while she and Mike went on their vacation to Colorado. They had been invited to stay with Tom, our brother so went. Wish I could be lucky enough to get out there some time but don't plan on it. Courtney was taken to Woodland to visit with her Aunt Jeanne and Uncle Forest and could hardly wait to get there. She had been taken up on Friday as it is such a long trip. Her Aunt Jeanne and Meglin had met in Bangor where they all had lunch at McDonald's before the departure of each for their homes.

Kariann was a good girl and still is and on Sunday, we stayed home while Peggy took Russell and Eva on a drive to see a new log home that Arden Andrews has made and then went to visit Myrna and Bernard White at their cottage on Lake Thompson. Would have liked to go along but Kariann needed her nap so stayed with her and took her out swinging etc. She doesn't get outside enough at home so liked her afternoon outside.

Monday was my trip to the doctor in North Bridgton and I had to have him look at my sore foot. For some reason, they have broken out on the bottom of them and burn as though they were on fire. A pleasant sensation! He gave me some ointment to see if it would help. He wonders if it is from the formaldehyde in the cement in the shoes but don't know any more than I do. However, he is trying to help. Had an appointment with another doctor in the afternoon and got it cancelled after an hour or so before I will have to see if I can find someone else who will see if they can help with the trouble I wanted him to examine me for. I hadn't gotten the prescription filled in the morning as I thought I would get it when I went to get it. Very discouraging. When Kariann and I got home, we found the house empty. There was a note saying they had gone strawberrying at the Chipman Farm in Poland. They weren't gone long and came home with five trays of luscious berries to take care of. They sure tasted good but no better than than ones I had picked out in the yard a day or so before. Those wild ones really have more flavor even though they are so much smaller and the shortcake I made with them was extra good.

West Paris

By MIRIAM INMAN

The town clerk, Gwendolyn Ellingwood, wishes to notify the citizens that the Town Office will be closed on Friday, July 3.

Forward Fellowship met on Monday evening at Beryl Bonney's cottage for a picnic supper and meeting. The next meeting will take place on July 27, at the Weeks' farm in Hartford preceded by a potluck supper.

Mr. and Mrs. James Young and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Inman attended the State Convention of NAPUS in Ellsworth the first of the week. The West Paris postmaster was elected as state secretary/treasurer of Maine NAPUS.

Wednesday night with their daughter Vickie and Charles Sanborn in North Conway, N.H. While there, Vernon was the guest speaker at a teachers' banquet in Ossipee, N.H.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bessette, Emily and Marc, of Fairfax, Vt., arrived last Sunday and are spending the week as guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vance and brother, Ken.

We all worked together and the berries were soon hulled, cut up and put in boxes and in the freezer for us to enjoy come winter. Of course, we all had to sample the berries while fixing them and were they good?

Had to stop and make a dress for Kariann's little baby. She didn't have one and like so many children, she likes her without any clothes but has kept the dress on her quite well since I made it for her. Sometimes it takes a little talking and explaining to get children to know what is best.

After lunch, I took Russell to the bank to get some business done and got a little, also. He was expecting to go to Lewiston the next day and needed some cash for the doctor who would look at his eyes. Kariann was tired as she had gotten up early for her so went to sleep on the way to town but went to bed when we got home to finish her nap. She has been a good girl and even talked with her mother and said "Good bye" without crying so guess she doesn't feel too bad

Friday Flicks at the Bethel Library

Friday Flicks is a movie program for children at the Bethel Library. Every "show" begins at 7 p.m., and last approximately 45 minutes. Parents are welcome, too; in fact, if children are under school age the library would appreciate that a parent, babysitter, or other adult accompany them. Come and enjoy movies on the big screen!

The remainder of this summer's Friday Flick schedule is as follows:

- July 10: Beaver Valley; Sneetches; Pigs!
- July 17: Madeline; Caterpillar; Farm Animals in Rhyme.
- July 24: Cockabody; Changes, Changes; Chick, Chick, Chick.
- July 31: Rosie's Walk; Wilbur's Story; The Strange Story of the Frog who Became a Prince.
- Aug. 7: Where the Wild Things Are; Tchou, Tchou; Oh Brother, My Brother.
- Aug. 14: Strega Nona; Clay; The Ugly Duckling.
- Aug. 21: Seadrums; Magic Balloons; One Kitten for Kim.

to be with her Nana. Was sick all night Tuesday night and didn't do much on Wednesday but sit and lay around to get better. Thank goodness, Kariann was a good girl for me. Had hoped to take her to see the dance recital of Cinderella but didn't get there. Will have to see if I can get there tonight. I'd like to see the children perform, also.

We have walked around seeing the pretty flowers around here and up to Grace and Lawrence's. Kariann likes them and it is cute to see her stop and smell them. She sure is a lot of entertainment and can keep one busy reading, etc.

I certainly love to watch the country side as I go for a ride. This is such a pretty time of year with all the lovely flowers in bloom and daisies filling the fields and along the road side. Seeing the butterflies under me think of putting one under my chin to see if they like butter. That was a saying when I was a child and those memories still remain. Picking wild flowers and wild strawberries were a pleasure for me. Of course, get-

East Bethel

By MYRA FOSTER

Rev. Norman Rust of West Bethel Union Church will preach at the East Bethel Church on July 12 and Aug. 16 at 2 p.m.

Miss Dorothy Bartlett was in Boston last weekend.

Mrs. Victor Coolidge and Sarah of Northwest Bethel visited Mr. and Mrs. Almon Coolidge recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Wojtylak of Portland visited Mr. and Mrs. Almon Coolidge and Mr. and Mrs. Erlon Bean over the weekend.

Mrs. Dorl Holman of Durham visited Mr. and Mrs. Chester Harrington for a few days last week.

We had a very nice time at the 50th wedding anniversary of my brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Maxwell, in West Lebanon, N.Y. There were over a hundred people there. Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell were very surprised and pleased to see us as we had told them we weren't sure we would be there. Another big and pleasant surprise was the arrival of their oldest son, Robert, and family from Mesa, Ariz. We had a good trip both ways there, and also enjoyed meeting many of the people and the family. All the grandchildren were there and three of the children. The younger son, Richard, couldn't be there as he was in Louisiana with the Air Force.

John Foster and David, of Andover, visited me Wednesday.

Mrs. Josephine Tyler of Dixfield took me to Portland Friday of last week to get my sister, Mrs. Gwendolyn Maxwell of Long Beach, Calif., who will visit me for a couple of weeks, hopefully more.

Mrs. Richard Stearns took me to Rumford shopping Friday of last week.

Warren Smith of Locke Mills took Albert Foster to Lewiston last Tuesday.

ting to eat the berries with lots of nice rich cream on them just added the right touch. Oh, to be a child again! I'm afraid we can't go back but the memories remain to help us keep happy.

Don't forget the dance at West Paris Grange on July 4th. Should be a good one.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway joined a family gathering at the home of Debbie and Brian Millett, Oxford, on Sunday for a cookout.

Callers on Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jordan recently were his niece, Joyce, and daughter from Florida.

The Woodstock Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, July 2, at the Town Hall to go to the Country Way, South Paris, for a noon luncheon. A short business meeting for the final plans for the summer sale on Thursday, July 16, at the Grange Hall from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Committees named are: kitchen, Barbara Hathaway, Verna Swan and Evelyn Bean; food tables, Lucy Robbins and Florence Gustafson; arts and crafts, Eva B. Twitchell and Kathleen Billings; knick knacks, Dorothy Russo and June Demerest. Tables for one's own sales may be had for $3 per table. Members are asked to please furnish food and articles for the various Senior Citizens tables.

Franklin Grange #124 will meet for a regular meeting on Monday, July 6, the program will be Nature Study.

On Wednesday, July 8, 3 to 7 p.m. there will be open house for Lions Noyes on the Knoll at Locke Mills. Merle and Picken Noyes and Gil and Liz Whitman would like all neighbors and friends in helping to make this a wonderful day.

Adult summer volleyball program starts tonight

The Adult Summer Volleyball program will be held at Telstar Regional High School on Wednesday evenings from 6:30 to 8:00 throughout the summer, starting on July 1 (tonight). This is a location change from that announced in the Adult Education summer flyer, according to Cathy Newell, director of Adult and Community Education for SAD #44. Debby Wheeler of Bethel will be the coordinator for the summer volleyball series, which is open to adults at no charge. Teams will be formed each evening. No previous experience is necessary.

The Mill Brook Terrace Luncheon . . . served daily 12 noon 'til 3:00 p.m.

REHEARSING FOR THE INITIAL OFFERING of the Upton Playhouse, Joy Chesna, Tina Young, Michael Potenza and Alan Barrett prepare their parts for the production of "Independence" The play will be staged, fittingly enough, on July 4 at the Upton Playhouse, which will be in a large tent on the lawn of The Hammons House, on Broad Street, Bethel. Tickets will be available at the door.

OPPORTUNITY TO MEET UPSON PLAYHOUSE ACTORS

The Upton Playhouse invites members of the community to enjoy the opportunity to meet the four resident actors, Alan Barrett, Michael Potenza, Tina Young, and Joy Chesna, and the artistic director, Pamela Bailey Powers.

If a family would like to host one or more of the actors for supper, Tuesday-Saturday 5-7 p.m., the playhouse would be most appreciative, and this might offer a special time to visit with them as well. Anyone wishing to volunteer to help in this way may call Sally Rollinson, 824-3170.

CARD OF THANKS

We thank all our friends and relatives for cards and letters and gifts and the many ways in which they helped to make our 50th wedding anniversary such a memorable occasion. Very special thanks to our daughter and our sisters and brother who planned such a lovely party. Rupert and Gladys Ellingwood

Several along the street heard the coyotes singing off in the hills one morning this week. Last year it was frequent, almost daily but this year is seldom heard.

The rain keeps me out of the strawberry bed more often than I like. Picking is beginning early this year.

Joseph Bergeron had several young gentlemen visit last week. Included were Warren Thurston, Kenny and Jon, and Chris Bowie joined the group Thursday for an overnight. Friday night Jerry Bernier visited and the rest of the boys returned to their homes in Newry or Bethel.

There are people staying this weekend at Val and Caroline Greene's house on Howe Hill. Mr. Greene is doing some more work on his deck, putting a sliding glass door from the deck into the house.

Lorraine Mills visited Marlyn Mills in Norway Tuesday and Thelma Merrill at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Wednesday. It was certainly hot in Norway Wednesday afternoon and then the temperature dropped nearly 25° on Thursday and it was back to winter weather. There is supposed to be a happy medium somewhere but Maine hasn't

By LORRAINE MILLS

There seems to be a conspiracy going to keep me from getting the news done. This week it is the telephone which went on the blink Friday. There are a few things more frustrating than having three phones in the house and having all of them giving a busy signal instead of a dial tone but this rates up among the top 10. They are not busy at all. They just sit there silent and dumb. In the second place I'm on ambulance dispatch this month from Friday at 6 p.m. until Sunday at 6 p.m. and it is panic time for the ambulance crew and the head dispatcher (who is responsible for the scheduling) when they can't get through. Luckily Lillian Herrick is back and kindly offered to fill in for me. She was not supposed to be greeted by such a schedule as this though. We didn't have dispatchers enough as it is and we don't want to discourage her first thing, and in the third place it is bound to cost money to get it fixed—everything does these days. Remember the good old days when you just called the phone company and gave the problem to them? Now they, more often than not, give it back to you. It certainly is an interesting time to be alive.

Around 30 West Paris and Greenwood fire department and auxiliary members enjoyed a pot luck supper at the Greenwood fire station Monday. It certainly was a lot less confusing this year than last when Greenwood had a fire that same afternoon and evening, and most stayed and enjoyed Art Welsner and his slide show of the Winesap's trips out west and into western Canada. Thanks very much, Art, and we hope you can come back again.

Bethel Senior Citizens

The Bethel Senior Citizens will have their annual picnic Wednesday, July 8, at Harold Powell's camping area just beyond Newry Corner on Rte. 2. Festivities will start at the usual time 11 a.m. Lunch will be about 12 noon. Hamburg, hotdogs and rolls will be furnished by the club. Members are to bring a hot dish or salad for every two people. Coffee and punch will also be furnished. Please bring silverware. Entertainment will be a brown bag auction.

Army Captain Paul L. Bernard, whose wife is the daughter of Albert and Eleanor Nelson of East Stoneham, has graduated from the Army's Combined Arms and Services Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kan. He is a 1977 graduate of Northeastern University, Boston, and is the son of Edna E. Bernard of Bedford, Mass., and Earl L. Bernard of Shrewsbury, Mass.

found it yet!

On a sad note, the town offers its sincerest sympathy to the family of Rowena Ring Dunham who died this past week at the age of 84. I don't know of anyone who didn't enjoy visiting her. When my daughter was growing up she often would go visit "Grammie" Dunham after school. She had a rare gift of hospitality and she will be greatly missed by her family and friends, both young and old.

I was interested in the comments about the availability of public swimming in the area. Perhaps someone ought to talk to former members of the Greenwood Beach Committee that addressed that problem here several years ago. The problems they ran into were eye openers as I recall. Unless the situation is different now all I can say is "Good Luck," you'll need it.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

All businesses have received a business survey that has been put together by Cathy Newell of SAD #44 and the Chamber of Commerce. It is part of an on-going process of economic development through providing educational and vocational training and through a program of business retention and expansion which will be conducted by local adult education and area business people during the coming year. It is a guide in planning for the future. It is important that we receive the survey by July 6 and for everyone with questions please do not hesitate to call either Cathy Newell, 824-2780, or the chamber office, 824-2282. This information is vital as it is not now available.

As everyone knows Mollycoddett Day is fast approaching, July 18, and we are still looking for volunteers with the booth on the Common, the race and float. Make it a great day for all and bring your time and suggestions to the chamber.

The community relations committee had been meeting and brainstorming ideas on how we can all work together. At our next board of directors meeting, we will get their feedback and keep you posted.

The next board of directors meeting is Thursday, July 9, 7:30 a.m., at the Casco Bank. All are welcome.

ferent now all I can say is "Good Luck," you'll need it.

This column has, of necessity, been a little different than usual. I thank you for your patience if you have any and certainly forgive me if you don't. I hope you are storing up all your newsy news and that I can get it for next week's column when hopefully, things will be better. I just never count on it. I'm just thankful when they are not worse!

DEMPSEY - SMITH ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dempsey of Hanover announce the engagement of their daughter, Robin, to Wayne Smith, son of Terrance Smith of Rumford and Ann Smith Rouleau, also of Rumford.

Robin graduated from Rumford High School in 1982, and from the University of Maine at Farmington in 1986. She is presently employed as a kindergarten teacher at the Woodstock School in SAD #44.

Wayne is also a 1982 graduate of Rumford High School. He graduated from the University of Maine at Orono in forestry management and is employed as a foreman for David Smith Logging.

An Aug. 8, 1987, wedding is planned.

Notes from theWoodstock Historical Society

Here is President Abraham Lincoln's own description of himself—

"If any personal description of me is thought desirable, it may be said that I am, in height, six feet four inches, nearly; lean in flesh, weighing on an average of one hundred and eighty pounds; dark complexion, with coarse black hair. No other marks or brands recollected." —Abraham Lincoln

Donations to the museum have come from Earle Noyes and Dr. Steve Chase.

Do patronize our museum this summer Saturdays 1-4 p.m. We have tried to arrange the exhibits to advantage and have many things for sale including our 1988 calendars. You may also examine the many history books and notebooks on reserve during summer hours. We have biographies of famous people, craft and antique books, and a large collection of Jackson-Silver Unit #68, American Legion Auxiliary, Locke Mills, met Thursday night to plan refreshments for the July 4 flag burning ceremony at 10 a.m. at their hall. The public is invited to bring their discarded flags for this proper disposal.

Four ladies attended the state convention in Augusta, President Leah Deegan, Mary Lyon, Trina Halacy, and Vera Cross. They brought back the National President's Plaque which was awarded the winner of the Music Report given by Chairman Mary Lyon, and certificates of merit for 100 percent membership and for donating to the Blind Camp.

The unit is happy about the post's winning scrap book—as the auxiliary helped in getting the publicity. Historian Herb Lyon won last year's first place, and this book goes to the national to compete with the other states.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Rowena Dunham, a member of approximately 40 years. President Deegan and Grace Smith represented the auxiliary at her services. The unit charter will be draped in her memory.

The next meeting of the unit will be in late September with a joint picnic with the post.

Gilead

By LOUISE LORING

Having written many times about our little diner here in Gilead, perhaps it would be appreciated to fill in all the faithful readers on the latest events of importance at this establishment.

Just to change the pace, perhaps we will keep you guessing until the very end. Sometime in the near future the store will again have a new name, but first let me describe it's namesake to you.

First of all, there is little Jenny. How many of you expect little Jenny is the chief cook—wrong! Little Jenny is a petite little blond, with deep brown eyes and a tiny little smile that beguiles the truck drivers, tourists, old gentlemen and staunch, crusty middle aged ladies alike. It makes no difference what the ages of the patrons are, or whether they are good natured or grumpy. Little Jenny greets all of us with her bewitching smile and makes everyone feel most welcome and comfortable in the homey surroundings. I guess you might say Little Jenny is the "hostess with the mostest."

How about the other guy—the real boss, you ask? The silent partner? Well, when you enter the door you will notice Little Ben at once.

Little Ben is the real authority figure the real partner, although not too talkative, all he has to do is stare with his inquiring innocent eyes, twitch his little nose, wave his little long fingered hand, and purse his tiny little lips and his slightest wish is promptly followed to a T. His jet black hair is neatly combed, box fashion, and is always dressed smartly in a tailored suit.

He is a long awaited newcomer to the family enterprise, and when he does make a den and anyone can see that he is the boss of the whole operation, without a doubt. Ben has a tendency to sleep a lot and seems happiest hanging around greeting customers, and looking wise.

Have you guessed already? Jen is just 2 and a half years old and her brother Little Ben came into the world on Father's Day weighing in at 6 lbs. and 1 oz. Maternal grandmother is Kathy Westleigh. The real owners and the proud parents are Michael Taylor and Brenda. And of course, Grandpa Tater as he is referred to lovingly by Little Jenny, to the rest of us, he is Harry Taylor Jr.

Much happiness and success is wished for all, and may I recommend if you have an empty place in your heart, drive up to "PJ Jen's and Ben's" and let them greet you and introduce you to their family. Not only will you enjoy good food in a relaxed atmosphere, you will come away with a renewed faith in your fellow men.

Yes, it will sure be worth the trip. Enjoy!

THREE POINT MEETING HELD AT PARIS GRANGE

The series of three point meetings was ended at Paris Grange Saturday, June 20. Paris served a delightful dinner at noon. West Paris Grange officers filled the chairs and Franklin Grange was responsible for the program which was as follows: Opening song, "Beloved Grange." A jar with beans in it was passed around to guess the number. Pamela Ellmore won the prize. The June special days were noted. The flag was presented by Lucille Robbins for June 14. All sang "She's a Grand Old Flag." The 21st being Father's Day sang these words: "F is for the fondness he has shown me; A—he is the apple of my eye; T is for the times that he has saved me; H is for his heart where loves abide; E is for his eyes with love light shining; R is right and right he'll always be; put them all together they spell Father a word that means the world to me." Then Joanne Cole passed each father who was asked to stand, a pen. There were seven of them. Dot and Bertha sang, "Dear Old Dad." Summer began the June 21 so all sang "In the Good Old Summer Time." Dot Canwell with piano and harmonica accompaniment did two whistling solos. Richard Felt played harmonica. Also as June is Dairy Month, Russell Yates read the real value of a cow, partly-part. Charlotte Cole played her trusty guitar with her harmonica, then she sang a number and they played one that was requested. Carl and Lettie Brooks had a vegetable garden skit. Russell Yates read a comical reading. An orchestra consisting of Dot Canwell at the piano; Richard Felt and Bertha Benoit, harmonicas; Carl Brooks, the bones; played a couple of numbers. Closing song and the thought for the day were given. One part of the closing thought was "although the years bring aches and pains that render our muscles inert, one consolation still remains—thank goodness our wrinkles don't hurt."

There 33 in attendance.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT
Whereas our Heavenly Father has called our beloved brother Marlon Parker, from earthly duties to the Great Grange above; and whereas he will be greatly missed by the members of the Pleasant Valley Grange. Resolved that we, the members of Pleasant Valley Grange, extend our sincerest sympathy to the bereaved family.
Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our records, a copy sent to the Bethel Citizen, also the Advertiser Democrat to be printed, and a copy be sent to the family of our beloved brother as a token of our sympathy.

Thought for the Day
Knowledge is power, but enthusiasm pulls the switch. —Ivern Ball

Calvary Congregational Church
Meditation: Jeremiah 17:7—"Blessed is the man that trusteth in the Lord."
Rev. Donald Grover's message last Sunday, "Why It's Great to be a Christian." Scripture verses were read and all fathers were honored it being Father's Day. During the Sunday School hour everyone received a pen inscribed with a verse, for their Dad's. Missionary moments: George and Anne Hicks sent a letter to the church. They leave as missionaries to Brazil on July 1 under the Gospel Missionary Union (GMU). Special music: "Praise Him, Praise Him." July 8: Quarterly business meeting, 7:30 p.m.

Ten things I wish I had known before I was 21. 1. That it was really important to be a Christian; 2. What I was going to do for a living; exactly what my life work was going to be; 3. That my health after 30 depended in a large degree on what I put into my stomach before I was 21; 4. Now to take care of money; that I was really a trustee of what I had; 5. The asset of being neatly and sensibly dressed; 6. That habits are mighty hard to change after you are 21; 7. That worthwhile things require time, patience and hard work; 8. That the world would give me just about what I deserved; 9. A thorough education is good, but knowledge of God's word is better; 10. The value of absolute truthfulness is everything.

And one extra thought; that my parents were not such old fogies after all!!

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the monthly meeting will be held on July 2 beginning with a 6:30 p.m. picnic supper at the Middle Intervale Meeting House, Bethel's oldest surviving meeting house. The meeting will commence at 7:30 p.m. and the program will feature a presentation by Society Director Stanley R. Howe, "Dr. N.T. True: Local Historian." Anyone interested in attending this meeting and the picnic is cordially invited to do so. Beverages for the picnic will be furnished by the society.

The Bethel Historical Society is fortunate to have a volunteer of the calibre of Jane Hosterman of West Bethel who serves as registrar and works with the collections each Tuesday. Mrs. Hosterman has spent considerable time transcribing the 1877 diary of Jacob N. Lovejoy of Albany. Mrs. Lovejoy's diary, given to the society in 1980, contains the daily "doings" of a prominent Hunt's Corner citizen. Documents in the society's collection indicate that he was a selectman in 1874 and 1875. In 1876 he was town treasurer, tax collector and justice of the peace; he was re-elected tax collector in 1877, the year of the diary. He was postmaster and made monthly and quarterly reports to the governor. He was treasurer of the Trustees of the School Funds for the Town of Albany for 45 years. He owned a store (Lovejoy and French) at Hunt's Corner, also raising sheep and cattle. He also grew vegetables (90 bushels of turnips in 1877), hay and corn. He frequently hired help for the store on his farming activities. His diary is filled with a multitude of details regarding his life and work, an exceedingly valuable fragment of the past which sheds much light for historians concerned about life in this part of Maine during the 1870s.

Newest members of the Bethel Historical Society include John Boschetti, Bethel; William Dyer, Milford, N.H.; Florence S. Dyer, Milford, N.H.; Richard and Lorrie Hoeh, Bethel. A contribution to the 1987 Endowment Fund Campaign in memory of Mary Carroll has been received from Madge Vogt.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, is endeavoring to bring frequently to you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

Get out the flags! Go buy the sparklers! Bring on the watermelon! It's the Fourth of July... time to celebrate! We all love a party, and the Fourth is one of our favorites. The Fourth of July brings to mind images of picnics and fireworks, and a chance to settle into the joys of summer.

There is, of course, more to appreciate this holiday than on afternoon at the beach. This is the day that stands as a symbol to us of all that is dear to us about our country. We are particularly grateful for the freedoms we enjoy. It is appropriate and good that we take this day to reflect on that freedom, lest we take it for granted or abuse it.

Jesus had some words about freedom that are worthy of our reflection. "Ye shall know the truth," he said, "and the truth shall make you free." Periodically in our nation's history we have found ourselves in struggles to discover the truth about ourselves and our principles. We have found that the search for the truth can be painful, and may bring to light what we may have preferred to remain hidden in the dark. From the whips of slavery to the tapes of Watergate we find evidence that our presence on this land has not been consistently spotless.

We find ourselves in one of these times now, as we are made increasingly aware of the deception that seems so prevalent in the nation our nation functions. We may wonder: is there so much to celebrate?

I would submit that it is precisely the process we are witnessing as we watch the current hearings that we ought to be celebrating. The fact that we are privy to so much of the investigation is a sign that we as ordinary citizens are granted the respect to form our own judgments. More, the fact that the search for truth goes on, as disturbing as that truth might be, indicates that our system is still grounded on honesty.

The truth may make us uncomfortable. But it is one of the most important tools we have as we work to preserve our freedom. As long as we continue to pursue the truth, we can wave our flags with pride. Watermelon, anyone?

1,773 STUDENTS EARN SPOT
ON UMO DEAN'S LIST

The University of Maine (Orono) dean's list for the 1987 spring semester includes the names of students from 23 states and eight foreign countries.

A total of 1,773 students earned a place on the dean's list from UM's seven colleges. Of the students who made the dean's list, 242 were from out of state and 1,529 were from Maine.

Students from this area included were: Katherine Leah Swain, Bethel; Brian Alan Bickford and Christopher Wayne Gallant, Bryant Pond; and Joyce Fern Parent, Hanover.

Adult Ed/Chamber
survey progressing

The survey of Economic Activity and Training needs, cosponsored by the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program and the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is progressing on schedule, according to project directors Cathy Newell and Robin Zinchuk. To date 70 completed surveys have been returned. Following the July 6 deadline for receipt of mail-in surveys, a personal follow-up process will be undertaken by Lindley Wieden to obtain responses from businesses whose surveys have not been received. Results from the survey will be used to plan adult education programs, and to form the basis for future activities of the chamber of commerce.

According to Mrs. Newell, the surveys already received ran the gamut from the area's largest employers to businesses with a single employee. Many have taken the opportunity to write comments and suggestions which are very useful to the process. Any area business who did not receive a survey may call the Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780, and one will be sent out.

Newry

By AMY HANSCOM

The title of Pastor Hanscom's message Sunday morning, June 21, was "Father," with scripture readings from 1 Corinthians 11:1-2.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cummings, Bethel; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Milligan, and Estella Glover, Rumford, visited Mr. and Mrs. Verne Glover while they were at their camp recently.

Enid Osgood and Jennifer Bowie took part in the dance recital at Bethel June 18.

Scott Wight, New York, N.Y.; Thomas Wight and Edith Murphy, Chelmsford, Mass., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Wight, recently.

The Mothers Club took 28 Newry children to Story Land June 22.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the "Sunday River Express," the new high speed detachable quad chairlift, will be held at Barker Mountain Base Lodge, Sunday River Ski Resort, at noon on Friday, July 10. The guest of honor will be Governor John R. McKernan, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wight will host the annual Fourth of July picnic at their home Saturday, July 4. A potluck dinner will be served, with beanhole beans furnished by the hosts. Friends and neighbors are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wight accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wight on a trip to the Gaspe Peninsula, June 20 to 22. The Ladies Circle will meet July 6 at 7 p.m. at the home of Freda Robertson. There will be an election of officers and the winner of the afghan will be announced.

Louise Tetley, Thelma Lowery, Betsy Clark, Karlene Bachelder, Gretchen Wight, went to the Berlin Lanes, Berlin, N.H., bowling June 23. Thelma Lowery was high scorer on triple string, and Gretchen Wight, single, Gilberte Seely went as a guest. After bowling, the ladies had lunch at Northland Restaurant.

On Saturday and Sunday, July 11 and 12, the Oxford County Fairgrounds will be the scene of the 26th annual Western Maine Gem, Mineral and Jewelry Festival. The hours will be: Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. There will be exhibits arranged by club members and by the various dealers present. The feature exhibit will be of Newry tourmaline by Plumbago Mining. Field trips this year will be to the Tamminen Mine on Saturday, leaving the fairgrounds at 9 a.m. Sunday trip to Mt. Mica will leave the fairgrounds at 10 a.m. Children under 18 must be accompanied by an adult. One can sign up for either of these trips right up to departure time. Regular features of the show include: dealer tables, demonstrations, touch table, the field trips, special swapping areas outside, and "cals" provided by the Rumford Grange. Hourly door prizes will be drawn throughout the two days plus the grand door prize, which will be drawn at 5 p.m. on Sunday. This prize will be a necklace made up of pink Newry tourmaline. This annual show is sponsored by the Oxford County Mineral and Gem Association.

NUKE REFERENDUM MEETING

Local leaders of the Maine Nuclear Referendum Committee will hold a public meeting on the nuclear referendum question July 12, at 7 p.m., in the Casco Bank. The question asks if a nuclear plant, such as Maine Yankee, that produces nuclear waste, should be allowed to continue in operation in Maine.

Newry selectmen hear report of Guard's work

During the regular weekly meeting of the Newry Board of Selectmen on Tuesday, Leo Swan and Roger Hanson met with Jeff Parsons from Outward Bound School. Mr. Parsons reported that the National Guard had finished work on the road across the Outward Bound property and would be returning later this summer to do further work on the road and parking area. He highly praised the Guard for their efficiency. Mr. Parsons and Mark Muller, also an employee of Outward Bound, will be meeting with the Newry Planning Board on Wednesday evening, July 1, to present plans for erection of another building to house personnel. Presently the school makes use of the former Jay Harrell property and several tents to accommodate their staff.

Also present was Veronica Smith who reported that the comprehensive plan has been sent to AVCOG to be typed and should be ready in about two weeks. It then will be reviewed by the selectmen and the planning board, prior to presentation to the townspeople at a hearing and special meeting.

Willard Wright reported that the town lines of Newry/Andover and Newry/Rumford had been permitted. Stone markers which had been placed on the Newry/Andover line were found to have been moved. They will be replaced and the landowner will be notified that these are marking the town line and must not be moved.

Marketplace closes; re-organization denied

The Locke Mills Marketplace closed its doors last week. It had been financially troubled since soon after its opening and had been in bankruptcy proceedings since last fall.

Owner John Pragg had filed for bankruptcy under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy code, saying at that time he hoped to reorganize his debts and continue in operation. Last Wednesday, the U.S. trustee handling the case filed a motion to change the bankruptcy from Chapter 11 to Chapter 7—that is, from a re-organization to an outright liquidation—after Mr. Pragg indicated he would not continue to operate the store. He leaves behind approximately $500,000 in secured debts and $100,000 in unsecured debts. The trustee earlier had said it is doubtful the unsecured creditors would recover any of the money owed them by Mr. Pragg.

Mr. Pragg gave the key to the property over to the Bethel Savings Bank last Monday evening. A bank official quoted Mr. Pragg as saying he was returning to California where he planned to enter a hospital for treatment of lymph cancer. Sandy's Kitchen, in the same building that housed the Marketplace, remains open, as does Early Root Estate. Bank officials were trying to work out provisions for transferring the food in the store to the charity pantry, in Bethel.

McKernan to be guest at Sunday River groundbreaking July 10

Maine Governor John R. McKernan will be the guest excavator at groundbreaking ceremonies for the new detachable quad chairlift at Sunday River Skiway. The groundbreaking is scheduled for noon, Friday, July 10.

The high speed detachable quad chairlift, the first of its kind to be built in Maine or New Hampshire, replaces the original Barker Mountain Double Chairlift built in 1972. To be known as the Sunday River Express, the quad chairlift will lift 3,000 skiers per hour to be summit. The length of the ride will be approximately six minutes, less than half the time of the original double chairlift. The lift engineered and manufactured by Lift Engineering of Carson City, Nev.

The detachable quad chairlift is part of a $14.8 million dollar expansion at Sunday River this summer. The five million dollar mountain expansion includes the 4,227 foot detachable quad chairlift, a 3,715 foot fixed grip quad chairlift, five new trails, 50 additional acres of snowmaking and expansion and improvements to the Barker Mountain Base Lodge and new D.W. McKernan's base area. Development of 14 condominiums including the two-bedroom North Peak units, one and two bedroom luxury Merrill Brook units and studios, one and two bedroom units at Brookside are valued at $14.8 million dollars. An additional 96 units of Phase II of Brookside are scheduled for construction later this summer. Completion date for the mountain projects is set for the opening of the 1987-88 ski season.

16 PEDESTRIANS KILLED ON MAINE ROADS IN 1986

Sixteen pedestrians were killed while driving and 46 were injured on Maine roads during 1986, according to statistics released by the Maine State Police. Five pedestrians were killed attempting to cross a road, with the remainder were walking along in a roadway. Killed were one child, one teenager, nine between the ages of 20 and 64, and five were over 65.
"Those needless deaths could have been prevented if motorists had been on the look out for pedestrians, and those walking had followed pedestrian safety rules," said Col. Andrew E. Demers Jr., chief of the Maine State Police. Demers said personnel injury accidents and even death may be avoided if pedestrians walk facing traffic, wear bright-colored or reflective clothing, use a flashlight at night, and look both ways when crossing a road.

Rotary Club notes

The regular meeting of the Bethel Rotary Club was held at Martha's Restaurant at 7:30 a.m. on June 30. Visiting Rotarians and guests joining the group were: Bill Lowther, our summer chaplain, Bounton, N.J.; Jim Wiswall, Birmingham, Ala.; Gil Robinson, Wilmington, Del.; Phil Springer, Gainesville, Fla., and Kevin Powell, Hanover, guest of Bruce Powell. Kevin was one of Teddie's honor students this year.
Good ol' Bruce was out among us selling raffle tickets—hoping to register a 100 percent sale. He has done an exceptional job in generating these extra dollars. The raffle winner was Kevin Powell. Last week, Bruce donated his winnings to Polio Plus and this week Kevin donated his winnings.
Rick Whitney and Scott Dennis informed the club about plans for the Woodstock Competition on Mollycoddett Day. Ticket sales will be a revenue source for this activity.
The Rotary social, planned for this past Saturday, took a dive due to the inclement weather, and not in Rollie and Phil's pool. Rotary appreciates the generous offering to enter the social. Let's plan another.

The Bethel Rotary Club Notes article published in our local newspaper will be written by a fellow Rotarian, better qualified through classification, to report the important social and business news of the Bethel Rotary Club. Keep tuned to the Rotary Club Notes for a news treat. The current reporter of Rotary Notes would like to see press that it has been enjoyable writing.

Local woodsmen to compete Mollycoddett Day

The Bethel Rotary Club has decided to return the traditional Mollycoddett Day lumberjack competition to local competitors. The contests are being set-up so that the average woodsman will be able to compete without purchasing any special equipment. Everyday chainsaws and log rollers will be during the competition this year, scheduled for Bethel Commons on Saturday, July 10.

There will be five events in this year's contest: Tree Fell, Tree Cut, Pulp Throw, Log Rolling, and Straight Cut. The prizes will be $50 for first in each event, $25 for second, and $10 for third. The overall Lumberjack of the Year, determined on a point basis, will receive $100. The events are again sponsored in part by Federal Distributors of Lewiston.

All interested woodsmen should pick up an entry form (no entry fee) at either Kendall Insurance, Maine Line Products or Prim's. Encourage your neighbor to compete!

Financial services office opened by two local men

Edward J. ("Doc") Endicott, of Locke Mills, and Michael Fraser, of Rumford, have opened a Rumford office of IDS Financial Services, Inc., at 55 Exchange Street, in Rumford.

"We're pleased that our growth in this area of Maine has made the opening of our office necessary," said Mr. Endicott. Mr. Endicott joined IDS—an American Express company—in 1980 and has served and established clients in the greater Rumford, Mexico, Dixfield, Bethel and Norway-Paris areas.

The new office is offering a free 30-minute consultation to anyone interested in improving his or her financial health. The phone number of the office is 369-0335.

The important news of our club activities these past several years, in the interest of Rotary my commitment to the news in negligible. Best wishes to our new correspondents.

Next week's meeting will be a club assembly.

The board of directors will meet on July 6 at the Casco Bank at 7:30 a.m.
